Night
by Elie Wiesel

Born in the town of Sighet, Transylvania, Elie Wiesel was a teenager when he and his family were taken from their home in 1944 to Auschwitz concentration camp, and then to Buchenwald. Night is the terrifying record of Elie Wiesel's memories of the death of his family, the death of his own innocence, and his despair as a deeply observant Jew confronting the absolute evil of man.

The F Street door will be open at 9:45 that morning. Everyone is welcome! Bring your own copy of the book, or check one out from the library.

Kevin and Charlotte Endorf Present:
No Time on My Hands: The story of Grace Snyder

Hosted by the Bonham Theater
519 E Street, Fairbury, NE
Tuesday, October 15, 2019
6:30 – 7:30 pm

*Program sponsored by the Fairbury Public Library
Also featuring quilt displays from the Rock Creek Quilter's Guild*

Grace Snyder was born April 23rd, 1882 and lived to be 100. She moved to Nebraska with her parents from Missouri when she was only three. Grace had three wishes and dreamed three dreams. To grow up to make the most beautiful quilts in the world. To grow up and marry a cowboy and to look down on the top of a cloud. At the time, it seemed impossible that any of her dreams could ever come true.

Program is free and open to the public

HUMANITIES NEBRASKA

Grandparents can support literacy--

Grandparents serve as wonderful role models for children. In addition to providing family support, grandparents help children learn and grow. Here are a few tips for helping children to grow as readers and writers.

Share pictures and interesting stories of your childhood and tell them how your life was different from how theirs is now.

When possible, spend time reading with your grandchild. If they live too far away, read over a video call on the internet or make an audiobook on your smartphone. If your grandchild is older, read the same book they are reading and discuss the book with them.

Take them to the library, sign them up for a library card and help them get to know the library's resources.

You can help them build their own reading collection by giving books on special occasions. Don't forget garage sales or thrift stores. Your child's collection should have a variety of fiction and non-fiction books.

Help your grandchild to improve their writing skills by becoming their pen pal, either by letters, emails, or notes.

Offer a reward to finishing a number of books, such as an outing to a museum or play.

Keep a collection of reading materials in your home for when they visit. They also enjoy reading a book that belonged to their own mom or dad a long time ago.

Whether grandchildren live in the same town or far away, grandparents can offer great literacy support.
